Healthcare Systems Engineering Institute Faculty Advisor Dr. Vinod Sahney receives Lifetime Achievement Award from Society for Health Systems

Dr. Vinod Sahney is one of ten people selected to be honored at the 2013 Society of Health Systems Conference for his significant contribution to the healthcare industrial engineering profession.

Vinod Sahney is a distinguished professor of industrial engineering and operations research at Northeastern University. In addition, he is an adjunct professor of health policy and management at Harvard University. He is a founding member of the Institute for Healthcare Improvement, and served on its board for over twenty years. He has also held positions at Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts, and Henry Ford Health System. Dr. Sahney has also been elected to both the Institute of Medicine and the National Academy of Engineering.

Dr. Sahney is one of two members of the Healthcare Systems Engineering Institute to be recognized by the Society for Health Systems. His colleague, Dr. James Benneyan, was selected to receive this award as well.
