Enjoy your winter break!

You deserve to rest and unwind from a busy fall semester! Utilize this winter break to continue focusing on your hobbies and discovering new passions. Try something that you have wanted to do or simply relax by reading a book for pleasure. If you are interested in focusing on your personal development, take another look at your resume. Update it frequently so it is available in a moment’s notice! Make sure to include your participation within the Northeastern community as well as other outside skills that you have gained.

Sophomore Success Strategy: Organize Yourself for the Spring

Continue to meet with your academic advisor to discuss your personalized curriculum within the College of Engineering. Explore minors, both inside and outside of engineering, to enhance your personal and professional goals. Keep in contact with your professors to build relationships that can help you professionally. Check your Husky email daily to ensure you are up to date with important University deadlines and events.

Wise Words of Wisdom from Husky Engineers

“Don’t underestimate the importance of the information you’re learning this year. It may be the most basic material relating to your specific major, but this is the information all your harder classes will build off of. Learn it well.”

- Alyssa Bezrek, Electrical & Computer Engineering ’16

Resource Reminder!

“Get the Scoop on Your Second Year” by visiting the NEW COE website specifically for sophomores! Identify academic strategies, COE Resources, on-campus study spaces, additional Words of Wisdom from fellow Engineers, a Second Year Check List and much more!

Just a thought …

“Oh, the places you’ll go! Congratulations. Today is your day. You’re off to great places. You’re off and away! You have brains in your head. You have feet in your shoes. You can steer yourself any direction you choose.”

- Dr. Seuss
